In October 2014, the EU adopted a directive requiring large companies to disclose non-financial information, including human rights performance, by 2017. However, if reporting is to be meaningful, new approaches will be needed.

The UN Guiding Principles Reporting Framework is the first comprehensive guidance for companies to report on how they meet their responsibility to respect human rights in line with the United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights.

Hear how the Reporting Framework can help companies provide robust human rights reporting that meets the expectations of their investors and civil society stakeholders.
