2015 Global Forum for Responsible Management Education – 6th PRME Assembly

When | 23-25 June 2015

Where | New York City, including a session in the UN General Assembly Hall

Who | 300-400 leaders of responsible management education and business, including deans, university presidents, professors, business school accreditation bodies and regional associations, students, participants of Global Compact Local Networks and the LEAD group of companies, as well as representatives from the UN, government, civil society, and corporate sustainability thought leaders.

What | The Global Forum will provide a collaborative, forward looking, and action oriented space to:

1. Identify major global trends for 2015-2030, including the role of business and management education in responding to the proposed UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

2. Engage in interactive discussion, share good practices, and connect with peers and key stakeholders, including company representatives, to generate solutions and opportunities for responsible management education.

3. Shape a roadmap for how business and management education can leverage engagement through PRME to be leaders, building on active projects and outcomes from past PRME Global Fora and Summits.

How | The programme will include:

- Keynote address and panel discussions by forward looking thought leaders
- “Collaboratories” (interactive, solution oriented, multi-stakeholder discussion)
- Breakout meetings with PRME networks (Chapters, Champions, Working Groups) and Global Compact companies (Local Networks, LEAD, and issue workstreams)
